Waldkirch. Due to the currently valid regulatory framework for medical technology that has been in force since mid-2015, the requirements for the packaging of dental pharmaceuticals and diagnostic devices used in the dental field have become much more complex. Folding cartons, leaflets and adhesive labels for dental auxiliary materials today must meet almost the same requirements that are in place for the pharmaceutical industry. As a leading provider of solutions for all pharmaceutical secondary packaging requirements, the August Faller Group now offers a whole set of solutions specifically designed for manufacturers of medical products used in dentistry.

One stop shop

In addition to normal packaging materials, the complete range includes in particular KIT packaging made from carton board or multi-page labels as well as packaging services, for which all cGMP guidelines (current Good Manufacturing Practice) are met. The Faller facility located in Großbeeren also holds a manufacturing licence under Section §13 of the Medicines Act (AMG). Additional services offered include, among others, the assembly of multi-chamber packaging and the packaging of small quantities according to recipient requirements. 'As a long-time supplier to the pharmaceutical and healthcare industry, we are familiar with all the important aspects of the medical field. Of course, this know-how flows into our solution proposals for the dental industry,' explains Tanja Feldmüller, Head of Business Intelligence & Marketing. There is an assumption that the regulatory requirements in the healthcare sector for the dental care market will continue to increase.

Comprehensive all-round offer

The subsidiary, which is based in Großbeeren and specialises in packaging and logistics services, is optimally designed for the packaging, labelling and packing of small and medium quantities of dental auxiliary products and materials, such as disposable injection needles for cartridges, paper syringes for drying root canals or vials filled with powders and liquids for the mixture of dental cements for temporary or permanent fixation. The specialists there develop demand-oriented solution offers that integrate into the supply chain of their customers. In addition, August Faller assumes all necessary contract packaging tasks and provides production resources and human resources to reliably carry out customer orders on time.

The range of services provided by the Großbeeren subsidiary include:

- Packaging and re-packaging
- Equipping of sets, starter kits or POS displays
- Labelling
- Vertical carton packaging

As a result, the August Faller Group is equipped to assist its customers optimally in the dental medical field, even in times of increasingly complex legal framework and requirements.
